[13:10] <tarrin> boy do we have morons in here.
[13:10] <CyberJaak> tarrin: why not?
[13:10] <DeltaStar> with the tables, it does
[13:10] <Heavy> He may, yes, but it hasn't been proven to be enough
[13:10] <tarrin> because the kit is for you to develope your own smartcard.
[13:10] <tarrin> it doesnt help you hack one
[13:11] <tarrin> people bought the siemens kits
[13:11] <Heavy> Only a part of the puzzle
[13:11] <tarrin> didnt do nothing for anyone
[13:11] <tarrin> you dont need the sdk
[13:11] <tarrin> thats foolish to buy
[13:11] <DeltaStar> part is better then nothing
[13:11] <Heavy> yes, but we need many parts
[13:11] <tarrin> what we need is a key crunching effort

[13:44] <xyz_work> no thats strike one
[13:44] <tarrin> i will show you how to derypt some cmd 00 packets
[13:45] <apoc11a> what sat skyvista
[13:45] <CyberJaak> that's great!
[13:45] <DishFarmer> shoot :)
[13:45] <xyz_work> pow
[13:45] <tarrin> here is some more info: although cmd 02 is decrypted by the map, it is only used for 17 bytes of simulcrypt data
[13:45] <tarrin> simulcrypt being the next cards stream
[13:45] <tarrin> so ignore cmd 02s
[13:45] <tarrin> the decrypted data would be xor'd against the control words
